The State Election-The City Quiet-The Case of the Shifters

After the excitement of yesterday in this city, the quies stillness of to-day seems unnatural. An election, on cate result of which depends to much, is at the presen moment being had here, and yet, except in the imme diate vicinity of the politicg places, one would not know that anything extraordinary was taking place. Still, if he asked why it is that the belt of Intependence Hall tolks one stroke each mipute—in observance of a time-honored usage-he might then learn the reason; otherwise, in the usiness and pleasure portions of the city, he would probably remain to Ignorance of the important es the storm. It is to be desired that the disgrac met upon representative in-tuntions by the recent elec-Louisville and St. Louis—will not have a deeper shade im-parted to it by the history of to day in Philadelphia.

ttself does not seem to attract public atention so much as one of its minor incidents—the com on a charge of riot and murder, arising out of the shooting of McIntyre, on Saturous night. For myself, looking at things with a perfectly unbussed mind, I cannot see with what show of jestee ferry men can be committee and punished for the act of one. If English, the Balt ex police officer—whom above the evidence tends to cate—be the party responsible to justice, he, an one, should be held to answer. There was no ac ot engaged in at the mo dent of the occurrence. S I can judge from the very unreliable evidence sar as I can judge from the very unreliable evidence given, the murder was out at emanation of that spirit of lawless outrage which the last tow years have served to develope throughout the whole country in its most revolting form. The visitim deserves no sympathy, for he bimself lived by deeds of fraud and violence; but the act was no less a marder, the man who fired the shot no less an assassin. If our boat def free institutions continue to bear such fruit, no political or social revolution ought to be feared, but they ought rather to be welcomed. While on this subject, I cannot do better—to show the state of seciety in which we live—than append no following letter, found in peacestion of one of the prisoners, and written by an associate who had gone to Balakmore to "assist" in the election in that city last week:—

I cannot their think that, with an impartial and infertible administration of the laws, it would be possible for such combinations of octiaws and vagabonds to exist. But in Haltimore and Philadelphia, as in New York, there is no proper execution of the laws—and hence these associations of hiters, and that, and kip Raps, and Ping (glies, and Bloed Tabs, and of a hundred other equally about mable titles, which bring diagrace upon our civiliration and our system of government.

Judge Thempson has had before him all day, in the Court of quarter Sessions, the case of the Shifler's, committed under the circumstances I have stated. They appear before him on an application to be discharged, or admitted to bail. David Paul Brown has volunteered his professional services on their behalf. The Judge will undoubtedly order the discharge of most of them, er at least their being admitted to bail; but it is not except the them go to the polts to day. There is no more prevence for holding them than there would be for committing all there who pa trispated in the irremon's personal survices in the state polts to day. There is no more prevence for holding them than there would be for committing all there who pa trispated in the irremon's personal state of the atmosphere. It is once of these days known is England as giving a tendency to suicides. It does not develope their in a good, houset, soaking rain, but is a perpetual cold drazds, which makes every one leed uncomfortable, and serves, I i ave no doubt, to repress any dissorderly manifestations. In the latter point or view the day ought not to be spoken harship of, and, therefore, I will not, in this letter, hazard any conjecture as to the day ought not to be spoken harship of, and, increave, I say no more about?.

I will not, in this letter, harard any conjecture as to the result of the election, for before this reaches yes, you will have been informed by telegraph of the result. There is nothing at all remarkable about the polling places. No New York positicians in the city.

P. S.—4 P. M. The Shifferites have all, with two exceptions, been discharged, on bonds of $600 each to keep the peace. The are just being escorted to their election precipes, and are being loudly cheered as they pass along. In this instance, at least, justice secure to have been fairly administered.

Elevar O'croox, F. M.

ELEVET O'CLOCK, P. M. The city is very noisy. There is much shouling and drunkenness, but no riots. Partial returns democratic majority of 4,000 in the city, and democratic majorities throughout the State. The Keystone Club is parading the streets with a band of music, cheering exultantly. The democracy are quite jubilant.

The English revenue returns for the year and quarter ending Pept. 30 have been breed, and are very favor-able. The total net increase of the quarter is £1,114,286, the year reaches the enormous sum of £71,348,067. Between the 30th of June and the 30th of September very nearly £20,000,000 of money has been paid into the ma-tional exchequer. With the exception of a very trifling decline in the customs and miscellaneous sources of revenue, the figures of the return are all on one side. To the increase on the quarter the property tax contributes

The British monthly Board of Trade returns have also been issued. The total experts of home produce and manufactures, last month, were 20 per cent. more than in the corresponding month of last year. Those for the eight months are 24 per cent. more than in 1855. It is assumed that this enormous expansion of foreign trade means a corresponding addition to the national profits, and is, therefore, regarded with great satisfaction; but a dearer money market may be expected, considering the amount of capital that is required to keep this unprecedented extent of commerce in motion.

The Lendon Times, of Sept. 30, says.—

The ACIES, 000 of specie from New York, to-day, by the Persia, comprises AB 000 of Mexican silver. Nearly the whole of the good has been purchased at a high price for transmission to Paris, but probably nothing will be down with the silver until siles the receipt of the telegraph of the China mail, which is now anxiously looked for.

Bank of England was relead from 4% to 5 per cent. It was fully expected that this step would be taken at the usual board meeting on Thursday; but the Steck Exchange and the public were surprised by this unprecedented de-parture from the ordinary course. The demand for mo-noy as the bank had, for several days, been very large, A further rise of 16 or 1 per cent is expected, the rate of the Bank of France being 6 per cent. Bullion in Bank has decreased £368,000. Gold continued to be taken for export at the rate of £40,000 sterling per day.

Accounts from Paris are still discouraging. The stock of builton in the Bank of France is said to be daily decreesing, and a number of groundless reports prophery an early decree for the suspension of specie payments, or for probibition of the export of silver. According to the Leeden Times correspondence, the Bank of Vienna has ac-Locdon Times correspondence, the Bank of Vienna has ac-cumulated $20,000,000 in silver in its vanits, most of it baving been drawn from France and Germany for purchase of railways by the Credit Mobiler. This will greatly help, when taken in connection with the deficient sifk grop, to explain the French financial crists.

Our London Correspondence,

LONDON, Friday, Oct. 3, 1850 the object of discussion by the press of Europe. It see appears that the despatch was communicated some days since by Baron De Brynow, the Russian envoy potent. at Paris, to the French government; and it is despendent. said that the Czar wrote privately to Louis Napoloss, entering fully into the subject. How will France tined for the Bay of Naples, have actually arrived at 4500 cio, (Corsica,) the appointed rendezvous; but the Predrep is yet at Tonion awaiting orders. The Empere of the French arrived last night at Paris, at 8 o'clock, doubtless ere this semething has been decided in the matter. Perhaps—and I think it very probable—a delay matter. Perhaps—and I think it very probable—a delegation will be induced by his importal righted of Austria and or Ruseia to grant, reprire mote, what live Western Process show an incanation of compelling him to do whether he will or not.

Austria is very much alarmed, more especially as the position Sardinia is assuming. Louis Napoleon fears aposition Sardinia is assuming. Louis Napoleon fears aposition Sardinia is assuming. Louis Napoleon fears appeting filice a a revolution any where as God knows where him ay end; ann there are plenty of discontented spirits in France, who would readily select any opportunity of country up a movement against him. Austria is playing puss in the corner with the rest of Europe. France has sont restorements to Rome, and thereupon Austria has order an additional number of regiments to the Legations. We said to this, that the foeling between Ruseia and the Western Powers is, to use a diplomatic term tends, because Russia declines giving up Belgrade on the Resembland, and is otherwise boatile. Austria also it is a semi-hostile possition, as she has not yet withdrawn have troops from the Danubian Principalities. So this again the political horizon is anything but sevene.
